JOURNALISM CLASS

of R.H.S.

We Entered into our School Year with Zeal

It was with a sense of anticipation and excitement that we came trooping to school that memorable day in September. Most of us had worked hard at summer jobs and played hard at our summer sports, but it was good to be back, finding old friends, making new ones, and exchanging the summer's accumulation of news with last year's classmates. Even with all the bewilderment and confusion of that first day, coming back was a happy occasion.

And Found New and Exciting Opportunities for Fun and Education

During the first few days, there was a bustle of activity in every corner. We signed up for classes, registered for lockers, and got acquainted with our new teachers. Class work soon began in earnest, and another school year was underway.

Besides the daily routine of studies, extra curricular activities occupied a great part of our time — homecoming, football games, sock hops, junior carnival, class plays, were very much a part of our school life.

Upper: Students take time out to catch up on the latest news.

Upper: Royertonites study in library!

Upper: First graders seek answers to many questions.

Upper: Rear view of assembly shows studying, whispering, and sleeping.

Lower: The Junior candy room attracts the crowd at the noon hour.

Class Sponsors

Mr. Leonard Gantz,
Sponsor

We, the seniors, wish to express our sincere gratitude to our sponsors for the four years of hard work, guidance, and friendship that they have unselfishly given us.

The Christmas program, carnival, class plays, and most of all the senior trip would not have been possible without the hard work and invaluable aid of our sponsors.

We are also most grateful for the time our sponsors sacrificed behind the scene — making out the attendance records and supervising the candy room.

Without our sponsors, none of our high school years would have attained any degree of success. Whenever they were needed, they were always ready to assist.

Mrs. Helene Walker,
Sponsor

Junior high school is a vital part of every student's educational life. It is within this short two-year span that he discovers such unheard of things as ink pens, book reports, floats, home economics, shop, and the opposite sex.

Each student who enters junior high finds himself in a jungle of halls, books, home rooms, and new teachers. Fine guidance and careful supervision, however, offer the student a good opportunity to fully prepare himself for his high school life.

Royerton's Marching Band Proves

Any spectator at the football and basketball games will well remember the band's outstanding performances this year under the direction of Mr. Jolliffe and Mrs. Myers. Indeed, the band put on some wonderful marching demonstrations at these athletic contests.

Members of the band spent many long hours in practicing and perfecting their marching routines. However, the band did not confine its activities to marching routines. In addition to participation to various school activities, they played for "April Showers", the spring music show; entered the spring music contest; and found time to take part in the Mermaid Festival which was held at North Webster in late summer.

The band's six majorettes also took part in these contests and demonstrations.

High School Chorus

The high school chorus has made spectacular growth in the last three years, increasing from approximately fifty to one hundred and fifty members. The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Riggin, is one of the largest organizations in the high school.

They have entertained large audiences throughout the year. They sang at the Christmas program for the Parent Teachers Association. Combining their talents with the band, they gave a show during the half-time at one of the basketball games. Highlighting their season was their appearance in "April Showers", the spring music program.

Panorama and Review Staff Brings You . . . News, Views, and Features

It is not an easy task to make up a school paper that has a circulation of 1700. The content of each issue must appeal to students of all twelve grades. After the articles are written, the dummy must be planned, headlines must be written, and proofreading must be done before the Royerton Review finally goes to the printer. However, it has been a pleasant assignment, and the senior journalism class has thoroughly enjoyed the privilege of bringing the monthly news to the Royerton student body.

An equally difficult task concerns the organization of the school annual. This Panorama, which represents hard work and thorough planning, will always be a lasting record of the many friends, activities, and events that were part of our life at Royerton. The yearbook staff hopes that each purchaser will prize his copy.

The experience that the class has gained in the actual work of making these two publications has been invaluable. Much credit goes to the editors of both the Panorama and the Royerton Review. We of the staff also wish to thank our supervisor, Mr. Phillips, for the advice and assistance that he has given us.

Undefeated Redbirds Capture Third MVC Crown

Under the excellent leadership of head coach Bob Baker and his assistant John Smith, the Royerton Redbirds closed their 1955 football season for the third straight year, winners of the Mississinewa Valley Football Conference Crown.

Strong school spirit along with determination and desire to win, while maintaining good sportsmanship, was the keynote as the Royerton Redbirds wrapped up the only undefeated grid-season in the school's history. Eagerness to work together on the part of the team proved to be the deciding factor in all of the Redbird victories. Bone-crushing blocks and tackles by John Smith's hard working linemen, combined with a talented array of fleet backfieldmen tore many weary opponent apart.

Bob Baker's Redbirds not only had the distinction of being one of the few undefeated teams in the fall of 1955, but in addition, they were the highest scoring team in the state — scoring 324 points against the opposition's 76 told the story.

Gordon Stauffer, Head Coach

Inexperience Handicaps Redbird Five

Mr. Gordon Stauffer, the former Michigan State basketball star and coach, found quite a rebuilding job on his hands when he took over as Royerton's basketball coach this year. Seven of last year's players were gone, and five of these were starters. Only Norm Kuhn, Dick French, and Tom Bruin were listed on the roster at one time or another last year. Varsity experience therefore was almost nil. The team started slowly and found it difficult to play a whole game, hot.

Coach Stauffer was forced to juggle his lineup often in anticipation of finding the right boys. The old adage that experience is never easily gained was well exemplified by the 1955-56 edition of the Royerton High School basketball team. The Redbird men virtually fought and literally kicked their way through a rugged 21 game schedule. However, one cannot condemn a single player or coach; for while the boys had a losing season, they kept trying. They played hard, and they were always in the game.

Administration

A large school which is well-organized is dependent upon an efficient and capable administration. Royerton School is indeed fortunate in having three competent men to supervise the functions and affairs of the school. Mr. Clifford French, principal; Mr. John Brinkley, East Building principal; and Mr. Carl Miller, Hamilton Township trustee have all played an important part in making the 1955-56 school year a successful one. Through their combined efforts, they have tried to provide the students of Royerton with a rich and full education.

The faculty also has an important responsibility for they have the task of molding the lives of the students. Helping and advising the students, these men and women have given generously of their time to guide students toward their goals. Through the guidance and encouragement of the faculty, many students have been able to solve their problems. We, as students, appreciate what the Royerton faculty has done for us.
